- Article 1 National Taiwan University (NTU or “the University”) Center for General Education (“the Center”) Regulations for Faculty Evaluation Committee Reviewing Documents for Promotion of Faculty Members (“the Regulations”) are formulated in accordance with Article 10 Paragraph 3 of the NTU Center for General Education Specific Rules for Faculty Promotion Reviews to encourage members of the Center’s Faculty Evaluation Committee (“the Committee”) to review documents for promotion cases in detail.
- Article 2 The Committee shall review the annual promotion cases of faculty members and convene meetings to prompt Committee members to thoroughly review the documents submitted by the applicants. The Committee shall also submit review comments from the department and the number of passing votes noted in the NTU Faculty Promotion Application Form and the review comments on the publication works to the members of the Committee for review, one week prior to holding the Committee meeting.
- Article 3 Prior to the Committee meeting for the review of promotion cases, the documents of the applicants shall be presented for members of the Committee to examine. If further clarification is needed, access to the original case may be granted.
- Article 4 Should the ex officio members be unable to attend the Committee meeting for promotion cases, faculty members of the same level, who are not members of the Committee, may be appointed as the proxies for the ex officio members, with the Committee being informed of such event. The proxies shall review the documents of the promotion cases in detail in accordance with the Regulations.
- Article 5 The Regulations shall be passed by the Committee, and then implemented on the date of promulgation.
